Great tumults in Porto Alegre (Rio Grande). The mob asked the President of the Province to resign office. Incendiary proclamations circulated; many people wounded and some killed by the police force. The tumults have no revolutionary tendency; it is all brought on by party disputes.

From this city I have nothing important to say. Colonel Santos is reported to be outside in the departments.

Associated Press Telegram

HAVAS' AGENCY

Paris, 17th.

London, 18th

In yesterday's sitting of the Commons a member of the Liberal majority presented a motion to the effect that H.M. Government should initiate negotiations with the European Powers tending to simultaneous reduction of their armaments, which was negatived by a large majority.

THE PENDING STRUGGLE

The telegram from London dated 15th June, giving Hard Dollar Bonds at 54, is a message of great importance, since it shows that the confidence of English bondholders in this country is not disturbed, and the struggle going on in the Plate is as well understood in Old Broad Street as in the Foreign Club in Calle Rivadavia. It is not our province to venture an opinion on the present war in its minor details, but our long experience of the history of these countries shows that the voice of the successful party will be responded to in all parts of the nation, and whichever side gains the victory the other provinces will soon respond to the situation.

The dissolution of the Argentine Republic is not involved in the issue; the struggle, viewed in whatever light possible, is but a party one, a mere continuance of the affair of 1874, with this difference: that now the Government of Buenos Ayres is opposed to the very Government which then it supported. The country, no matter what disastrous battle may be fought, will still remain with its immense and rapidly increasing resources, and the strife once over, we may expect to see the Argentine Republic again resume her proud position amongst South American Republics.

Bondholders in Europe should, therefore, not take too unfavorable a view of the position, even should there be a temporary suspension of the payment of the dividends. The people of this country attach too much import to its credit and honor to allow the foreign bondholders ultimately to suffer.

The statistics of the Custom House show that with each year there is a great augmentation in its receipts. This augment, we may expect, will be continued in the same or greater ratio. We shall, therefore, have the means to pay, and our previous history shows that we have the will to do so.

Whatever may be the result of the present war, it is safe to believe that the Government of the Nation will be maintained; that the Republic will be intact—even the decrees of the Governor of the Province point this way, since they order the opening of special accounts of the moneys of the National revenue, which are made a special deposit and used only for National purposes.

The present war is due as much to the rapid growth of the Province of Buenos Ayres as to that of the Nation; both sides have legal Governments to support them; there is nothing vandalic in the struggle; the 'caudillo' no longer figures in the arena; the conflict is one inseparable from the growth of interests and the colliding of institutions. Every country under the sun that enjoys free and liberal institutions has had her Arias, her Race lo, her Tejedor, her Avellaneda. Even in great and constitutional England her history is marked with events the same as our own. England was not destroyed by the fight between King and Parliament; and grave as is the situation of the country to-day, we see no reason why the fortunes of other countries should not prove lessons to our own.

People must not forget the great and rapid growth of this country since 1852, when we exported 20,514 bales of wool, against 215,762 for the present season, and 1393 bales of sheepskins in 1852, against 60,000 bales this present year—an increase of 14 times in quantity and 28 times in value. These are vital figures which mock the Remingtons of either or of both sides, and it is the magnitude of such interests that brings out in still bolder relief the insignificance of the struggle, and of its real and veritable consequences.

THE ÆNEID.

It is as difficult to write on the movement of the belligerents as it is to understand their tactics. The retreat of the ten thousand, recorded by Xenophon, comes back to us through the waves of time and forgotten centuries, and we think of it as we read of the march of Arias in the face of a superior foe, through a wild open country, and gaining the very portals of the city, beleagured by the army at the Chacarita. Whatever may have been the result of an engagement so partial that it is undeserving of the name of a fight, the strategist will accord the merit to Arias for so ably out-manœuvring the enemy. But the more we subject the campaign so far to study the less intelligible are the tactics on either side. The National troops have effected little, since, with a powerful division outside, and the main army at the outskirts of the town they were unable to cut Arias off, or surround him in the 'bañado' of Flores; and Arias would have weakened the strength of his foe, if instead of falling back on the city he had played the Flores tactics and kept out towards Navarro and the Salado, in order to incorporate with Machado or Plaza Montero. As the campaign stands now, it seems probable that the troops of the city will join Arias, and decisive battle in the neighbourhood of Flores will be fought, and perhaps sooner than expected, since it is evident that the 4000 men under Racedo, that engaged Arias near Lujan, have not had time to reach the main army at the Chacarita, which must be debilitated by the absence of so large and effective a wing. Not all the coolness which the best of public writers could command would suffice in a moment like the present, when the issue is intensified by the howling of the Arab street boys, the deafening ringing of the Porteño bell, the firing of bulletin rockets, and the booming of heavy guns in the offing; bulletin follows bulletin, and one hardly knows what to think or what to believe, such is the roar and hubbub in the very streets. Many things tend to make the present an exceptional campaign and subservient to none of the rules or arts of war, but whatever may be the incidents, the tactics, or the strategy of the belligerents, that which claims the highest of all interest is its possible duration.

The rumoured changing of the anchorage of the British gunboat on Friday has given rise to a suspicion that the ironclad Plata wanted to get the gunboat out of the way to open fire on the Retiro or the mole. It is hardly possible to suppose that Col. Cordero would dare to fire one of his 500 lb. balls on a city filled with women and children, and without giving due notice to leave. The gunners on board the ironclad are not such great marksmen, that they can fire at such a distance at any object in this city with the certainty of hitting it. Much more probable is it that the balls from the ironclad will strike wide of the mark, and like the shots from the steamer on Sunday, that were aimed at the Custom House mole, and struck the San Francisco mill. To fire on a city such as Buenos Ayres would be an act worthy of King Bomba, or Alaric—Cordero has no ambition to play the role of either.

The Nacion gives the following account of the fight in the port on Friday:—

"The small steamers of the squadron were at their usual work, trying to prevent the landing of goods, by seizing the lighters, and Major Vasquez, of the Capitania, was ordered down to protect the lighters. He at once embarked in a 12-oared launch, with 25 men, and rowed out a considerable distance from the mole. The steamer Buenos Ayres made for his launch and opened fire on it, to which the men in the launch replied. Meanwhile the Krupp gun on the passenger mole opened on the steamer, and one of the balls grazed her cabin. The Buenos Ayres, which had previously only fired rifles, answered the Krupp with some cannon shots, but they did no injury.

"At this moment, when the steamer was doing her utmost to capture the launch, the gunboat Pilcomayo, at anchor off the Boca, fired a 600 lb. shell which burst in the air, over the passenger mole, but did no injury. The launch was, meanwhile, rowing hard for the mole-head, pursued by the Buenos Ayres; the Krupp opened on her again and she sheered off, to anchor near the gunboat. The launch reached the mole safely, and the lighters continued discharging.

"While all this was going on the crew of the ironclad El Plata beat to quarters, and it was thought she was going to fire, but she did not. Further excitement was caused on the beach by its being seen that the British, French and other foreign war-vessels were getting up steam in all haste, but nothing appeared to come of it."

The port is quite bare of vessels, large or small, between the Catalinas and Custom House Moles. No one is allowed on the passenger mole.

General Mitre is now enrolled amongst the defenders of Buenos Ayres. He threw up his seat on the Peace Committee on Friday, believing that for the moment there is no chance of an arrangement.

General Gainza has had an interview with Colonel Arias at the latter's encampment near the city. After a long interview, the Minister returned to town at 6 o'clock.

The messenger who brought in Colonel Arias's official despatch of the battle of Olivera is an Italian. General Gainza and Governor Tejedor both offered him a considerable 'douceur', but he refused to take a paper dollar, saying that he had cheerfully run any risk there was to serve the cause of Buenos Aires.

Coronel Arias's army is variously estimated at from 7,000 to 12,000 men.

Mr. Thomas St. George Armstrong has been named 'Director de Almacenes' of the Red Cross Society. Beds, lint, bandages, etc., are already pouring in from all quarters. All the editors in town have been named Protecting Members of the Supreme Council of the Red Cross.

Dr. Jose Francisco Lopez, the eminent commercial lawyer of this city, has addressed the following highly important letter to General Roca on the present situation of the country:

B. Aires, June 15th.

To General D. Julio A. Roca.

My dear Sir and Countryman.

Our native soil has again been stained with Argentine blood, shed by Argentine hands. Fratricide and Parricide have commenced. The Argentine People have been thrown by political vertigodown the bloody and slippery slope of this double calamity. Is there no patriotic Argentine hand to save from this abyss the Mother Country to whom we owe our existence in the family of nations? Shall we let her roll into the ditch of civil war, with her glory and flourishing wealth, which makes her a tributary of the civilized nations of the earth, and this without her sons exhausting every effort to save her?

When I ask myself these questions, your image, General Roca, and that of our beloved country, rise before me as a shadow floating above a wreck. In this struggle between Patriotism and stormy political passion, I have thought that it might serve you to listen to an impartial voice, in this critical moment for the ruin or salvation of the first Republic of South America, a rank acquired by the blood, sweat and glory of many generations. This rank of first South American Republic, which means a future of astounding prosperity in peace, or its fall through civil war, depends on your patriotism.

Fortune has placed the decadence or splendour of our beloved country in your hends. Civil war, whoever wins, has always been the martyrdom of peoples. It is neither patriotic, glorious, or expedient to destroy one's own family.

Choose between the two extremes!

If you are, or have been elected to the Presidency disputed by your rivals, imitate the true mother before Solomon, when he ordered half the child to be given to each claimant, who gave up her child rather than see it cut in two,

Resign, rather than see two millions of Argentines severed by the sword of civil war. Resign, rather than have your name branded as the parricide and fratricide of the Argentine family. The Argentine Republic repudiates fratricidal war for a mere name. Do not consent to your name being the epitaph on the tombs of thousands of Argentines, and the ruin of your country.

Do not become intoxicated with the false glory of wearing on your breast a Presidential scarf dripping blood. Rivadavia refused such vulgar fame. There is not a low 'caudillo' in South America who has not worn it, stained with the people's blood, mounting and leaving the fatal chair with corpses for its steps.

Glory lies not in the official chair, but in the civic virtues of him who occupies it, who should leave it as Rivadavia did, if it is stained with blood. This is Rivadavia's culminating glory, the glory of patriotism and moral altitude, which he left as a noble legacy to his countrymen.

Why does not General Roca do as Rivadavia did, and save by his sole will the Republic, which would bless its saviour—who would thereby vanquish his rivals in that greatness of soul so necessary to the greatness of nations, which resemble their rulers as children do their fathers? Redeem your epoch, which is sick with egotism, by an act of patriotism that will make the fibres of the whole republic vibrate, and will save it.

Two millions of Argentines and 200,000 foreigners will be yours in heart, and hail you as President for the next period, and you will ascend the chair with blessing of the Argentine People. You will have the double glory of having saved them and being twice their President.

If, through opposing influences, which disturb the noblest spirit, your judgment vacillates in this supreme emergency, in spite of the demands of those who seek for peace, shake off this enervating atmosphere, which hangs like a veil between you and the people. Elevate your mind to the regions of patriotism, where the great men of history imbibed their inspirations, and when there, weigh in the balance the destiny, progress and happiness of 2 millions of Argentines and 200,000 foreigners, the present and future of the country, the prayers of the people who implore your efforts for the greatness of the country—and in the other scale put the horrors of civil war, the fratricide and parricide of the Argentine family, and all for a name! Do this and your choice will be made quickly.

But this resolve must not be made in a petty spirit or hang on names. The Argentine people belong to no man, class, or political clique, so that it cannot be saved or ruled except by them, instead of honorable citizens who belong to the conservative class and not to the ranks of the politicians who have lighted a fire which cannot be extinguished with the very elements which feed it. Why not seek peace amongst the pacific elements of society which would govern without that party hate and bitterness which ferment like a cancer and periodically hand over Argentina's bosom to the scalpel of civil war? These political struggles are the scourge of the Republic. Why should not General Roca be the son fated to save her from it?

What will the world say at seeing the magnificent funeral ceremonies for San Martin and Rivadavia turned into 'funerals of blood?'

What will the world say at seeing brother slaughtering brother over the father's tomb, for the heritage of power?

Why cannot General Roca's soul rise to the high level of great statesmen whose glory is written not on puerile Presidential emblems, but in their own greatness and that of their country? The world is sick of the blood and treasure required to make a President; sick of the long list of Presidents whose only trophies are those of civil war. Why does not General Roca come to an understanding direct with the Argentine family, snatch the fratricidal steel from their hands and unite B. Aires and the Provinces in a fraternal embrace?

This would be greatness, General Roca. Remember what I say. If you are in doubt, lean to the side of Peace and Commerce: these are loyal friends who never die.

Do not trifle with Fortune when you possess it. This is not a question for diplomats, lawyers or politicians: It is one of family, heart, good faith and a reconciliation between Argentines, which will free their houses from fratricide and water their hearts with tears of joy and gratitude to your own name.

This happiness, this glory, which has never yet fallen to any Argentine, is what is sincerely desired for you by

Your fellow-countryman,
Jose F. Lopez.

THE ENGLISH SHEEP-ROT.

The French mail has brought us a neat and admirably compiled pamphlet on the sheep-rot in England by Messrs J. L. Bowes & Bros., the well-known wool brokers of England. The magnitude of the loss sustained by the English sheep-farmers can be seen by a glance at a map in this book, which gives every county in England with colors indicating the intensity of the disease. As the matter cannot fail to be of the highest interest to sheepfarmers in the Plate, we readily make room for it, giving in short chapters each day the contents of this invaluable pamphlet.

"An attempt is made in the following pages to estimate the loss caused amongst our flocks by the Rot; we are aware that nothing more than an approximate estimate can be arrived at, but our figures are based upon information drawn from a great number of sources, and all of it has been carefully sifted and examined.

Its History and Nature.

Before approaching the task which we have undertaken, it may be well to refer briefly to the history and the nature of the disease. Sheep-rot has existed from the earliest times, and few sheep breeding countries have escaped its ravages. It is caused by a parasite, technically known as 'Distoma hepaticum', but commonly called the Fluke; it is a suctorial worm which lodges in the biliary ducts of the liver of the sheep and causes the rot which destroys it. A fully developed distoma will measure an inch and a quarter in length, and half an inch in breadth at its widest part. For these particulars, and for the woodcut which is given in our paper, we are indebted to Professor Simonds, who also tells us that the most notable outbreaks of the epidemic in this country, prior to that of which we treat, occurred in 1735, 1747, 1766, 1794, 1808, 1817, 1824, 1830, 1853, 1860, and 1869. The most serious were those of 1830 and 1860, and it is said that two millions of sheep succumbed to the disease in the former year. With these preliminary remarks we leave the helminthologists and veterinarians to discuss the origin, and discover the cure of the disease, and pass on to consider the subject from our own point of view—its effect upon the supply of wool and mutton.

The Present Epidemic.

The present epidemic commenced in the early part of last autumn, and rapidly spread and increased in intensity. Like all previous outbreaks t followed upon a wet summer, and has been most seriously felt in low-lying, ill-drained, and slovenly farmed grounds. Those counties which were denuded of their sheep in 1860 have again suffered the most severely during the present outbreak. In Devon, Somerset, Warwick, Oxford and other midland and south-western counties, whole flocks have been swept away, miles of country are without sheep, and there is not a sound one left in some districts. On the mountains, on the chalk, and on well farmed lands, the losses have been small, and even Norfolk has comparatively escaped, owing to the good farming compelled by the natural disadvantages of its situation. In other of the eastern counties the losses have been moderate, and Lincoln, and all to the north of it, have escaped entirely, or suffered only to an inappreciable extent. In Scotland there is no sign of rot. Few parts of Ireland have escaped, and in all those counties bordering on the Shannon the losses have been severe. The disease has been aggravated by the inability of many farmers to supplement with artificial food the coarse and innutritious grass and unripened hay, the result of the unfavourable weather of the last year.

THE TONE OF SCIENCE.

In the year 1865 I crossed the Pampa and the Andes, from Buenos Ayres to Chile. The chief object of my journey was to look at the mountain range of the Andes, to see if I could find apparent evidence either for or against certain geological ideas.

On my arrival in Valparaiso I wrote a paper, in which I stated that the mountain range appeared to have been upheaved, after the downward or vertical pressure of the strata had changed to horizontal or lateral pressure, acting east and west with greater force than north and south; also, that after the formation of the main range, a recurrence of vertical pressure had probably been the principal cause of the volcanic action along the line of the broken strata.

That paper forms one of the chapters in 'An Investigation of the forces which determine the position and movements of the Ocean and Atmosphere,' which I published in 1866. The views there expressed differed greatly from those of the geologists of which I knew anything, and I supposed them to be new. I now find, from an article in the April number of the 'Nineteenth Century Review,' that Dr. Carpenter, just fifteen years after my passage of the Andes, has adopted the views I then expressed as to the mode of their upheaval.

Whilst adopting these views, Dr. Carpenter gives the distinguished American geologist, Professor Dana, the credit for having originated them. And as I know that Dr. Carpenter, then Vice-President of the Royal Society, 'studied' my book when first published, I presume he has ascertained that Professor Dana had originated these views before 1866.

I am not sufficiently versed in the history of geological opinions to be able to dispute Professor Dana's title to precedence, nor have I the slightest desire to do so. My only surprise is that those opinions were not as prevalent before I published them in 1866 as they gradually became soon after that date. And whether the land of the Pampas or the land of the Prairies has the honour of having been the first to evolve those views, it appears that they both have the honor of having preceded the circle of scientists in possession of the halls of the Royal Society.

Now comes, however, the best and the amusing part of this episode.

No thoughtful observer can have failed to notice in some places strata so broken as to indicate the action of direct tension, and not merely such tension as may result from the bending of the strata. I never supposed that the views to which I have referred gave a complete explanation of the phenomena observed; and since the date of their publication I have shown with mathematical certainty that there is a direct force of horizontal tension acting through the surface of the earth from N.W. to S.E. in the northern, and from S.W. to N.E. in the southern hemisphere.

Without this action, what I previously wrote neither explains why the range of the Andes has its actual position, nor why parts of it, notwithstanding the general overlapping of the strata, are rent asunder evidently by a tearing action. The latter is due to the conflicting action of astral and terrestrial gravitation which is established as a mathematical certainty and not as a mere theory. The views suggested in 1865 are not yet, in some respects, more than theory; and whatever their merits may be, the action they indicate is insignificant when compared with that which has been more recently discovered.

Thus Dr. Carpenter has not only taken fifteen years to accept the views I formed in 1865; but he has accepted them in the crude state in which I (and apparently Professor Dana also) then expounded them, notwithstanding that in the meantime they have been overshadowed, and to a great extent rendered obsolete, by discoveries which have subsequently been made and established on a mathematical basis.

I am now curious to see where Dr. Carpenter or his colleagues will manage to find a Professor on whom to bestow the honor of having discovered the action and the cause of this tension; and how long it will take them to arrive at this more advanced stage of knowledge.

MONTEVIDEO.

All the newspapers have taken up the manifesto of the officers in the army. The opinions on the matter are, of course, as different as day from night.

A rumor has been afloat to the effect that the President had quarrelled with his Minister of War, Colonel Santos. It has been contradicted, and it is certain that harmony prevails in the Government circle.

A child was run over by a tramway in the Calle 18 de Julio on the 14th. Death was instantaneous. The coachman was arrested. It was pitch dark when the accident happened.

The theatre empresarios, in spite of their good companies and crowded houses, when balancing their accounts, have found a balance of trade against them to the amount of $f.6,000. The San Felipe company is dissolved, to the great regret of the admiring public. Zarzuela companies are more appreciated in Montevideo than in Buenos Ayres. The Porteños have a greater partiality for operas and opera-bouffe. It is incredible how, in spite of the high entrance and seat prices, scarcely any company pays.

Three Ausonians tried very hard to get the Caridad Lottery prize of $10,000, by altering a figure in their ticket. The lottery people—very cute men—asked them how they would carry so much gold, and whilst one of them cleared out for a box, a policeman was fetched. The ingenious Italian came round with a flour-bag, and all three were walked off to the Policia. The prize fell in Buenos Ayres. Already $t.70,000 have fallen in the sister city. The new Lottery management is inspiring confidence at last.

The Siglo is one of the best-edited papers in Montevideo; it always has the latest and most reliable news. It says that Colonel Arias is in San Jose de Flores, a league from Buenos Ayres. The latest news says that the distinguished Colonel, who is an Oriental, is only in Moron. Your esteemed colleague might write an appropriate editorial on the great advantage to the Banda Oriental of the present hegira from Buenos Ayres. Some hotels that were on the point of closing their doors have started again with refreshed hopes. All the tailors in the city are in the highest glee, as many of the emigrants have arrived with scarcely any clothes; whilst the tobacconists have increased their stores. The tramways are crowded and the confiterias are crammed with young Argentines. An opera company may be expected out soon. The rents on the Union Road have risen, whilst the quintas are being rapidly fitted up for the coming guests. In the country towns on the Uruguay business is reviving, owing to the hundreds of people who migrate from Corrientes and E. Rios. Last, not least, the Siglo has increased its circulation, and the editors intend reducing in like ratio the price of the paper.

A newspaper says that all the great military preparations of the National and Provincial Governments tend to militarize the Republic and put it on a respectable war-footing, in order to fight the Chilians. Verily, Argentines would do much better to cross the Andes and fight their neighbours rather than battle amongst each other. At all events, the rapidity with which you raise armies will give your neighbours plenty to think of in the event of war. According to report, there are in Buenos Ayres over 10,000 men; outside the city 8,000; in the Province of Buenos Ayres 10,000 in Entre Rios 14,000; in Santa Fe 10,000, etc.—over 50,000 men armed in a fortnight. Julius Cæsar would be proud of it.

LATEST FROM BRAZIL

As some remedy for the troubles in the Upper S. Francisco region the Minister of Justice has brought in a bill to authorize a special chief of police for the region, his district to include parts of Bahia, Minas, Geraes and Pernambuco.

The Senate has rejected the Deputies bill legitimating spurious children, also when the parents marry subsequently. Sr. Silveira Martins however, introduced a bill of legitimization into the Chamber of Deputies just before leaving that Chamber for the Senate.

In regard to the improvement of the city of Rio by levelling the Senado hill, and by the building, outside of the city, of 'Evonias', or houses for the lower classes, in substitution of the existing pestiferous courts, the Senate has laid over both bills for information as to the views of the present cabinet.

On the 1st Senator Octaviano da Rosa gave great interruption, while the ex-President of the Council was defending the action of the Government in putting down by force the disgraceful riots at the beginning of January, when mobs amused themselves by smashing tram cars, tearing up pavements and making barricades, and individuals of the same confraternity playfully beat conductors, and shied brickbats into passing cars containing women and children. Senator Octaviano appeared to hold such acts justifiable in opposition to the necessary execution of a law passed by the Supreme Council of the nation, of which the noble Senator is himself a member, and he sneered with offensive reiterance whenever the speaker referred to English respect for the law as worthy of the imitation of Brazilian mobs. He even accused Sr. Sinimbu of want of patriotism, and recommended him to go to England. In England it is certain a patriot so unselfish and true as Conselheiro Sinimbu would be cordially welcomed, but we doubt whether the same respect would be paid to Sr. Octaviano, for the English people is still strange to the spectacle of a member of its Senate availing of his position solely for the promotion of industrial schemes, able and willing to pay an Amphytrion to pass them through administrative and legislative turnpikes.

By a debate on a requisition of Sr. Correia it seems that, owing to the neglect of the judicial authorities, some prisoners exist in the jail of S. Fidelis in the province of Rio de Janeiro, whose indictment has not yet been formulated after over two years in arrest, and in consequence of the general neglect to prepare indictments no jury sessions could be held. If such neglect of duties can exist at two days' journey from Rio, what may not be occurring at more distant parts, say at three months' journey? But similar things occur even in Rio itself, and no one gets fined or dismissed.

Messrs. Fernandes and Irmaos, of this city have invented a most ingenious system of tumbling carts, which would be highly appreciated in England, and which does great honor to the Brazilian inventive capacity. By a lever contrivance as simple as ingenious, the driver, without leaving his seat, can upset the contents and restore the body to its usual place. One of the carts is especially intended for city refuse, and is lined with zinc, and covered in such a manner as to prevent the escape of offensive smells. The other is a water cart, excellently adapted to its purpose, and without the monstrous wheels of the present water carts. Both are solidly constructed, but with scientific distribution of material to obtain the greatest strength with least weight. The general adoption of Messrs. Fernandes' carts would be a great boon to this city.

Some doubt appears to rest upon the real date of Camoens' death, although the Gabinete Portuguez de Leitura has decided on the 10th of June for its Tricentenary Festival. However, in the laconic but excellent biographical notice which Mr. Robert F. Duff has appended to his beautiful translation of the Portuguese Epic, he gives the inscription on the vault as follows:—

But by the investigations of the Visconde de Juromenha, Mr. Duff says it appears that the great Poet died on the 10th of July 1580. Why, then, is the Tricentenary Festival fixed for the 10th of June 1880?

All the press notice with warm expressions of sorrow the untimely decease, at five years of age, of the talented son of the distinguished Maestro John White, Director of the Club Mozart in this city. Together with a marked manifestation of precocious general talent, young Master White displayed at a very early age an intuitive musical genius, especially in the difficult management of the violin, and already at four and a half years of age had performed thrice in public and had received from the Italian Society the distinction of being appointed an Hon. Member. Unfortunately, brain affection intervened and cut short the bright expectations that were cherished in regard to this child artist.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday was the slowest day since the siege began. There was no news whatever stirring, and even our bulletin colleagues seemed to be 'done up' with their recent excertions and the shout of the newsboy was hushed. The streets were duller and more deserted than we have seen them yet, and, except by the blockade-runners, there was no business doing in the port. There was a great stir all day in Plaza Once, but our readers are already aware that military news is now a forbidden subject.

There was a grand demonstration on Friday night opposite Governor Tejedor's house. The Police band played some beautiful operatic airs under his balcony, especially a fantasia from Sonnambula which Dan Godfrey and his Grenadier Guards band could hardly have played better.

The port was definitely closed yesterday. There is now a string of ironclads, gunboats and small tenders from the Riachuelo mouth to several squares north of the Catalinas Mole, 12 vessels in all, and nothing, even a row-boat, is allowed in or out. What are the odds that we shall hear this morning of several lighters having run the blockade during the night.

Trains now run hourly on the B. Aires and Ensenada line, as far as Tres Esquinas.

We publish in another column an interesting letter from Mr. Jordan on the Tone of Science, and recommend it to the attention of those who are tired of reading the war news.

The estimable Scotch clergyman the Rev. James Smith, walked out and in from Belgrano on Friday: the sentries allowed him to pass when they found out who he was. On Thursday he crossed the lines to Flores. Both sides respect his cloth, but in making such distant sick calls he has to walk in and out, as there are no tramways, &c., running.

There was news from Barracas-bridge yesterday morning to the effect that in the night some 500 men, with fully 1,000 horses, had entered: it is supposed from the Ensenada district. The number of horses at the south end is very large.

We publish in another column a most important paper received from Liverpool by last mail on the terrible 'epidemia' in England called 'the fluke' in sheep. The losses up to the present are over 2½ millions of sheep. This must tend to improve the value of sheep and wool in the Plate.

Some farmers, just in from the camp, report the pasturages much improved, particularly in the north and many who had to move their flocks in April are now bringing them back.

The victory of Colonel Arias has caused the south end of town to overflow with milk and butter, and hundreds of 'lecheros' got in yesterday. People at the north and west ends are worse off, and that dubious article, condensed milk, is in large consumption, as also Italian-tinned butter, which cannot compare for an instant with the Cork article.

There will be a sermon in English to-day, as usual, at the Merced Church, after the Mass, at one o'clock. The Christian Doctrine class meets at two o'clock on Saturdays.

We have to thank Dr. Roberts for his polite note informing us of our nomination as 'Protecting' member of the Red Cross Society. We shall do our best to merit the honour.

Yesterday morning the Paseo de Julio was crowded with sight-seers to know what changes had occurred during the night. The only new feature was a double line of lighters along the Custom House mole, and a line seemed to be drawn by the blockading squadron to intercept even row boats.

The British gun boat Elk has not moved from her anchorage as reported. She lies close in; also the French gun-boat, and so long as they remain there, the iorn-clad cannot fire on the old mole.

The Flores people all came and went yesterday; some few were stopped at the Once, but subsequently the commander let them pass. Everything on the Flores Road very quiet, but the Village of the Plain is an encampment, and the National troops are quartered in the houses of some of the most respectable 'vecinos.'

The meat market was never better supplied than yesterday, and many housekeepers laid in a stock of mutton paying $38 m|c for a whole sheep, which is not to say dear. As appears, by advertisement, there is no scarcity of fresh butter at $8 m|c per lb.

A German gentleman called on us to say that during the night the gunboats fired on the Catalinas Mole and sunk a lighter.

The long line of locomotives belonging to all the railways, drawn up from the Central Station to the Gas House, is a very descriptive picture of the state of the country Many could hardly believe there were so many locomotives in this province.

VERY LATEST.

Three hundred passengers engaged for Cosmes: cannot enter.

Colonel Leiria arrived yesterday at Puenta Alsina.

National troops reinforced at Flores.

A quintero who passed through Chacarita to-day report troops all gone from there.

There was a far stiffer tone in the gold market to-day, and prices advanced as ready gold was bought freely at 31.75. Gold opened at 31.70, and closed at 31.80; the sales for the end of the month opened at 31.70, and closed at 31.75.

Although Saturday, owing to the melancholy state of the country there was very little done in any branch; and as for payments, there was nothing to collect for save exchange; we never remember a more dreary Bolsa Saturday.

Yet spite of the great pause in everything there seemed to be a better feeling about the duration of the war, and men who yesterday thought 6 months the time to-day thought the affair would be much shorter.

In the way of fresh war news the only thing stirring is that a man came on 'Change about 3 o'clock and reported fighting going on in Flores. Commander Dowling was enveloped in friends when he entered the Bolsa, he is one of our richest Irish estancieros and made the campaign with Arias; his description of the fight and campaign was listened with the greatests interest. Mr Crisol, an estanciero of Salto, has also arrived.

The sales to-day were:—

For cash A 6,000 at 78

The gold sales were:—
For cash 2,500 31.70
40,000 31.75

At afterhours gold ruled very hard and prices advanced to 31.85, at which a few sales made, and market closed buyers at that rate, and at 31.80 for the end of month. The gold market appears rising, owing to outsiders buying.

The British gunboat Elk has not moved her anchorage, and everything in port ruled very quiet, a few shots fired during the day nothing more.

All the letters from Montevideo were returned to-day and no mail allowed for that port; this news caused much noise on 'Change as it increases the inconvenience of the situation. We had 1,500 papers stopped yesterday at the Post Office, and we fear the mail service promised us cannot be relied on.

Exchange was done to-day in the open market at 50½, and the Provincial Bank continues to draw at 40d, which with gold at 31.85 is over 51d gold, a very splendid exchange at this time of the year, but even the Bank drawing exchange at 40d does not keep gold now from advancing.

The Custom House bills for duties now maturing are collected by the Bank, so it does not seem probable Mr Ruiz will collect much in Montevideo.

The tramway to Centro America resumed running to-day.

An English broker, who visited Arias's camp this morning, gave an interesting description on 'Change of the encampment at Puente Alsina.

Steamer Archimedes arrived here this morning, and after delivering her mails to the Garnet proceeded on to Rosario, from whence she will return to take Belgian mails hence of 1st July.

Our special Boca reporter gives the following:—

"As regards the landing of arms in the Boca mentioned in to-day's issue may be true, but up to present moment we have seen nothing of them.

"Some boxes of arms (say thirty) were found in a house at the Vuelta de Rocha notice of which I have already given you, and have since been deposited in the Comisaria; hence perhaps the mistake.

"Most of the lighters have arrived safely at their destination, and the rest are on their way in, laughing in their sleeve at the National Government.

"This morning I paid a visit to Tres Esquinas and came across a large force of Arias's cavalry. The horses are plentiful, but in poor condition.

"Last night from forty to fifty sailors from Captain of Port's, Buenos Aires, came down to protect our diggings.

"Everything quiet."

"The Uruguay Central and Hygueritas Railway Company of Montevideo held its annual meeting the other day, Mr Drabble in the chair. The chairman expressed the great disappointment of the directors at not being able to present a more favourable report every paragraph in which they felt was of a discouraging nature. As the shareholders were aware the line was only twenty miles in length, and consequently they could not tap any important traffic, and the great point which had attracted the attention of the directors in the past, and was still doing so, was the amalgamation with the Central Uruguay of Montevideo Railway Company, but before any active steps could be taken in that matter some arrangement would have to be made with the Uruguay Government with respect to the concession, which the directors proposed to give up for a specific sum. The progress of affairs during the past year had more than ever confirmed his views as to the great desirability of the proposed amalgamation. Their line was worked by the Central Uruguay Co. at 65 per cent of the receipts, but the line of that company, which was worked in 1878 at 64, was last year worked at only 54 per cent of the gross receipts, which, in his opinion, showed the advisability of amalgamation. The net receipts of this company for the year amounted to £2,819, against £2,933 in the previous year. The amount owing by the Uruguay Government was increased during the year from £29,655 to £40,843. The company was enabled to pay £1 16s per cent interest on coupon No. 6 of the bonds. He was personally placed in a very delicate position with regard to the amalgamation of this company with the Central Uruguay, as he occupied the position of chairman of both companies. He would for the present continue, should the shareholders desire it, to act as chairman of this company; but when the proposed amalgamation was more advanced he would ask them to kindly relieve him of that position. The report was adopted.

"At the periodical sales of hides held in London on May 6th there was a large supply, but the demand was very quiet. In the Liverpool market inquiries have been limited, and business restricted to a few new season's Uruguay ox at full values; sellers of Rio Grandes are asking for bids slightly under the last sale prices. The Antwerp market for River Plate has assumed a somewhat firmer tone, and the declining tendency seems for the present to be arrested.

"The stock of River Plate sheepskins at Antwerp is very insignificant, and the sales being thus limited quotations remain unaltered.

"There has been a slight reaction in the Antwerp market for River Plate wool similar to that now existing in the London market for colonial wools, and prices generally now stand 5c to 10c lower than they were at the opening sales on April 26th.

"Those of our readers who exhibited at the Paris Exhibition of 1878 will be glad to learn that the Commission has just ordered the striking of 6,800 commemorative medals, to be distributed among the members of the foreign commissions, the juries, and the exhibitors who did not compete for prizes. The medals are to be of bronze, and will involve an outlay of 300,000f. A similar medal is to be struck for distribution among the journalists, foreign as well as French, who were provided with season tickets. There still remain 7 gold medals, 101 silver medals, 526 bronze medals and 2,510 honourable mentions to be distributed among exhibitors who have not yet claimed them.

"The shareholders of the Mercantile Bank of the River Plate have decided to form a new bank, to take over the assets and liabilities of the existing establishment, and gradually liquidate. This was not resolved upon until after a lengthy discussion, extending over two hours, but in the present condition of the bank this is manifestly the best course that could have been adopted. There is undoubtedly a profitable field for banking operations in the River Plate, and if a new institution, with fresh capital, new names, and entirely new organisation, can be founded on the ashes of the old bank, we have not the slightest doubt that it will succeed."

Copy of Analysis by Professor Kyle.
National College, Buenos Ayres, November 29th 1879.
Messrs. M. Forrester & Co., Buenos Ayres.
Gentlemen—I have at your request made a careful examination of the sample of JEYES'S SHEEP DIP you handed to me on the 18th inst. I find it to be a well made preparation of Phenols and other Tar products, combined with soap, retaining the liquid form and easily mixible with water, from which it does not afterwards separate.
The proportion of active ingredients amounts to rather over 80 per cent. it is free from Mineral Poisons and from Caustic Alkalies. In my opinion it is well worth the attention of Sheepfarmers, and will be found by them to be convenient, safe, and I do not doubt, very efficacious as a Sheep Dip. From the readiness with which the preparation can be mixed with cold water it ought to prove most acceptable as a domestic disinfectant, being more convenient than crude Carbolic Acid or the disinfectant powders so frequently employed.
I am, Gentlemen, your obedient servant,
JOHN J. J. KYLE, Professor of Chemistry.

Extracts from Testimonials
From Mr. Alex. Stewart, Bailiff to H. D. Pochin, Esq. Rodaent Hall. Wales—
"The Sheep Dip is the best that I have ever used. I have not seen a single Maggot on any of the Sheep since we used it. The wool looks beautiful, and to all appearance improved in quality. I feel satisfied it will be an invaluable boon to our large Sheepfarmers in the Colonies, and it only wants to be appreciated."

Dr. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S
(Ex Army Medical Staff)

CHLORODYNE

IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. P. Wood stated that Dr. J Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, being the inventor was deliberately untrue, which he regretted had been sworn to. Eminent hospital physicians of London stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the discoverer of Chlorodyne; that they prescribe it largely, and mean no other than Dr. Browne's.—See Times, July 12th 1864.

The Public, therefore, are cautioned against using any other than

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.

REMEDIAL USES AND ACTION.

This invaluable remedy produces quiet, refreshing sleep, relieves pain, calms the system, restores the deranged functions, and stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, without creating any of those unpleasant results attending the use of opium. Old and young may take it at all hours and times when requisite. Thousands of persons testify to its marvellous good effects and wonderful cures, while medical men extol its virtues most extensively.

CHLORODYNE is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitations and Spasms.

Extracts from Medical Opinions.

The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport, that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy or any service in Cholera was Chlorodyne. See Lancet, Dec. 31st, 1864.

From A. Montgomery, Esq. late Inspector of Hospitals, Bom'bay. 'Chlorodyne is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgia, Asthma, and Dysentery. To it I fairly owe my restoration to health, after eighteen months' severe suffering, and whom other remedies had failed.

Dr. Lowe, Medical Missionary in India, reports (December 1865) that in nearly every case of Cholera in which Dr. J. Collin Browne's Chlorodyne was administered, the patient recovered.

Extract from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera. 'So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of adopting it in all cases.

See leading article, Pharmaceutical Journal, August 1st, 1860, which states that Dr. J. Collis Browne was the inventor of Chlorodyne, that it is always right to use his preparation when Chlorodyne is ordered.

CAUTION. None genuine without the words 'Dr. J. Collis Browne' on the Government Stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.
